

Brief CV

Dr Tan Lay Koon,
Senior Consultant Cardiologist & CMR Imaging Consultant,
MBBS (MAL), MRCP (UK), FAMM (MAL), FNHAM (MAL), FaSCC (AP), FESC (Eur), FSCAI (US), FACC (US),
Clinical Director of Women's Health,
Cardiology Department
National Heart Institute Kuala Lumpur

Dr Tan is currently a Senior Consultant Cardiologist and CMR imaging consultant at the National Heart Institute and heads the Women's health clinic and was the past Chairperson for the Women's Heart Health Organization from 2017 to 2019. She is part of the writing committee of the Malaysian Guidelines for CMR 2015 and the Malaysian Clinical Practice Guidelines for the Prevention of Cardiovascular Disease in Women 2016. She also sat in the editorial board of 'Pulse', which is a newsletter for the National Heart Association of Malaysia. She also has a special interest in preventive cardiology and is part of the cardiac rehabilitation team and heads the quit smoking clinic at the National Heart Institute. In addition, Dr Tan also practices cardiac intervention and has research interest in cardiovascular diseases in women and in cardiovascular imaging. She had also participated as an investigator in numerous international clinical trials.